i-plant™ Surgical Pax

ids (integrated dental systems) introduces i-plant™ Surgical Pax which are complete sterile kits that contain all the single use items needed to protect against cross contamination for every type of surgical procedure. i-plant Pax were designed to create an aseptic barrier between the patient and any external surfaces, substantially reducing the chances of contamination and ensuring the best possible operating conditions. i-plant Surgical Pax eliminate the need for staff to organize and put together all the different items needed to set up for surgery and the need to clean, pack and sterilize many items after surgery. All the components of the Surgical Pax are pre-sterilized and single use. Each kit is hand-packed, ensuring quality control. The 3 sizes of i-plant Surgical Pax contain all the components needed to protect the patient and staff, primarily featuring a selection of drapes of various sizes, gowns, caps, suction tubing and X-ray gauze. The Pax save time and cost less than buying the items individually.
